

The World Five Feet Above Ground

I am a crime scene.

I am the floors, walls, and ceiling.
Everywhere you look, I am there.
It's a magnetic force and downward pull called gravity
That I like to refer to as reality.
Come down with me.

Some say,
What you don't know won't hurt you
But, I believe what you don't know works against you.
So why do you run from me?

Everywhere you turn, I am there.
I am a magnetic force and downward pull called gravity
But, I refer to as reality,
Come down with me.

I am no fiction novel,
I cannot concoct the situation for you.
Nor am I Alice.
There is no wonderland here.
I am things as they are.
Come down with me.
